

Bruno Delile takes helm at AMG and becomes SVP Operations AFI KLM E&M, Americas

Paris, Amstelveen, 03 December 2009 – Until now Senior Vice President (SVP) International and Business Development for Air France Industries, Bruno Delile has been appointed President of AMG, a group subsidiary incorporated in the United States, specialising in component support. He will simultaneously be SVP Operations in the Americas for AFI KLM E&M.

Prior to his new appointment, Bruno Delile had spent four years as Air France Industries SVP Industrial and Business Development, tasked notably with joint commercial coordination for AFI and KLM E&M.

Lengthy track record in aircraft maintenance.

Prior to this, he spent six years as VP Materials and Services, where he covered components repair and overhaul, supply chain management, and logistics.

Bruno Delile has more than 20 years' experience in aircraft and components maintenance and has held several positions in aircraft line maintenance, purchasing, and project and materials management.

Although most of his experience has been with Air France, he also worked at the Snecma Group as Program Director and Business Director.

Bruno Delile has a Master Degree in Mechanical Engineering and an MBA from ESSEC, the elite French Business School.
